

1st IMCR/Joint Usage Research Program Young Researcher Development Program Seminar

Speaker: Dr. Yo-ichi Nabeshima

Director of IBRI laboratory (Kobe)
Professor emeritus, Kyoto University

Unveiling the novel concept of life through Klotho – Exploring the principles of development and functional maintenance–

Date & Time : Feb 1, 2017 16:00–18:00 (Lecture + Q&A)

Place: Large lecture Hall, School of Medicine, Gunma Univ.

- Internationally-renowned basic biologists will share with us their scientific research and motivation and philosophy behind their research.
- The aim of the seminar is to provide an occasion for young researcher to be inspired by top-notch science and research philosophy.

Dr. Nabeshima has won many awards, including Purple Ribbon, Balz Prize, Japan Academy Prize, Meister award from Japan Endocrine Society, Prize for Science and Technology from MEXT Japan.

Reception hosted by young researchers at “Cinema” after the lecture (reservation required)

Contact: Tsutomu Sasaki, Associate professor, Metabolic Signaling, IMCR
tsutomus@gunma-u.ac.jp